

Community Partners Working Together Plant 42 Trees in Under Two Hours

Anaheim Beautiful and their community partners were part of a statewide tree-planting event this past Saturday and, with the help of 90+ volunteers, planted more than 40 trees at Twila Reid Park.

As part of the “Invest from the Group Up” program to plant 1350 trees in nine California cities, these trees will not only beautify the park, but will help reduce greenhouse gas emissions and help clean the air. CIRCLE, the California Initiative to Reduce Carbon and Limit Emissions, is the lead organization of the statewide program.

Local organizations on hand to help in addition to Anaheim Beautiful included the City of Anaheim Public Utilities department and West Coast Arborists, a business member of Anaheim Beautiful.

Funding for this statewide project comes from the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection (CalFire) Urban and Community Forestry Program Greenhouse Gas Reduction Fund (GGRF) grants. CIRCLE grant partners include the California Urban Forests Council, West Coast Arborists, Inc., and the Western Chapter International Society of Arboriculture.
